Right in between the town center and the area called La Huerta, we locate this property. Built over 200 years ago the property still keeps lots of the original features and has a very nice and inviting feeling. The house at the moment, offers three double bedrooms but has all the top floor that could be used to create extra accommodation if required. The house has two fireplaces and one wood burner that works with oil. It has a terrace with access from the kitchen and a courtyard that could be converted into a parking area if necessary. A laundry room, a wine cellar another cellar for the oil tank and wood are available. Lots of space and lots of potential in a very old and rustic townhouse.
